

A pull-out poster guide to LIFT TRUCK MISTAKES

Brought to you by Cat® Lift Trucks.

OVERTURNING

Don't carry loads at dangerous heights while on the move.

Remember: always keep your load low when travelling at faster speeds.

SPILLING LOADS

Be careful when going down steep inclines with unusual loads.

DRIVING TOO FAST

Driving too fast can cause potential dangers for pedestrians and bystanders.

When leaving your truck unattended, always apply the parking brake and remember to take it out of gear.

FALLING TRUCKS

Not taking care in the loading area can result in a fall from a great height.

To avoid vehicle movements in the dock, remove the driver's keys, install a traffic light system, or simply use a chock until loading is complete.

NO PASSENGERS

A lift truck isn't a bus. Never transport anything other than yourself and your load.

Carrying passengers is dangerous at any time.

CABIN SAFETY

Not being aware of your arms and legs when driving could result in serious injury.

Always keep your limbs inside of the truck while moving.

SLOW DOWN and always use your horn to notify people you are coming.

AVOID LIFT TRUCK DISASTERS.

Follow the safety rules.

- Never operate a truck unless you are trained to do so.
- Always operate within the rated capacity of the truck.
- Slow down and sound the horn at all cross aisles and doorways.
- Check the truck at the start of the shift for any defects or condition that could impact its safety. Do not operate a truck that doesn't pass the inspection.
- Always act in accordance with applicable safety regulations and truck manual.
